Mr. Morrill, from the committee of conference, made a report on the bill to supply deficiencies on the expenses of the reconstruction acts. Adopted.

Mr. Williams introduced a bill creating a national bureau insurance.

At the expiration of the morning hour a supplementary reconstruction bill was ought up.

Mr. Buckalew spoke in opposition to the In the course of remarks Mr. Buckalew

In the course of remarks Mr. Buckalew quoted from Morton and Trumbull's speeches, and made the assertion that in every Southern State except two the number of white voters sexceeded that of the colored voters. He then referred to the Tribune and World's almanaes and other authorities, that in Mississippi, Alisbams, Louisians, Florida and South Carolina the black vote exceeded the white, and in Georgisti was about equal.

Mr. Sherman asked whether that was not exactly desired that white citizens refused to register.

Mr. Buckslew said that was not the point Mr. Buckaiew said that was not be point he was srguing and went on to say that only in Arkansas there was such a preponderence of white registration that an election would certainly be determed by thatrace. He therefore held that between a full registation of the black vote and a partial disfranchisement of the whites that negro supremacy was an inevitatable result.

the whites that negro supremacy was an inevitatable result.

Mr. Sherman said the first reconstruction supported by him disfranchised no whites, and he had slways regretted that any man was prevented from voting, he being convinced that when suffrage was extended to all negroes it should have been extended to all the whites. Every Republican in the Senate had voted for a proposition to enfranchise every male citizen in the South: but the Democratic members of the House united with the majority of the rebellion members is voting down that liberal proposition, or resorting to political treaties to prevent a vote, thus forcing Congress to the adoption of the act as it was passed. After reciting the subsequent action of Congress, he said but fer that combination between the Democrats and a portion of the Republicans, there n those States; if, however, they chose to orego registration rather than have it without egroes, it was not the fault of Congress, and they could not compisin. No doubt they could step forward in every State, even in Georgia, in view of their superior intelligence and ca-pacity for politics, and control the majority at pactry for politics, and control the majority at any time.

Mr. Buckalew said the point he made could not be covered by words. The question of responsibility for acts of the period referred to by the Senator, was discussed fully at the time. Whatever differences there were in the ranks of the majority, the Democratic members had opposed all their propositions. He had told them all they had to do was to join the Democratic narty in rejecting the amend. the Democratic party in rejecting the amend ment, but the idea was to pass the House bill and to hold the minority responsible in som and to hold the minority responsible in some way.

It was true the Senator had then opposed disfranchisement; but afterwards yielded to the dictation of the master of the house, as others had done before and since. Disfranchisement has been created by the political majority. They had been told by Mr. Stearns that the disfranchisement bill would only disfranchise 0,000 to 10,000; the Sanator from Indiana now called it 50,000. He (Buckalew) had been laughed at for estimating it at 60,000 at first; but it was at least 300,000, as could be seen by the census and other returns, as that was the number who did appear at the registration. He read the question and said the act of March 23, left neither in the same condition. The act of July was alleged to be simply declarratory of the existing laws. He read from a circular, used at the Southern elections, a list of persons disfranchised, saying that magistrates and constables, and even militia officers are to be disfranchised under the provision to exclude all State officers concerned in the execution of the State laws. This, he said, would exclude more constables sione than the whole disfranchised. according to Mr.

Pennsylvania constables were chieged to take the eath.

Mr. Hendricks asserted that all the civil efficers were excluded whether they had taken the eath or not.

Mr. Conkling said it had been found that in Virginia and elsewhere, officeholders had dispensed with taking any eath, for the purpose of having immunity in that respect, and the law having been evaded in that way, Cougress had chawged the law to meet that case.

NEW YORK, January 29.—The frigate Wachusetts arrived, to-day, from China.

The case of Fiske and others vs. the Rock Island Railroad Company came up sgain, to-day, on a motion of the defense, under the statute of 1789, to transfer to the United States Circuit Court, on the ground that Mr. Tracy, one of the defendants, is a resident of Illinois, and that from local feeling against the company, an impartial trial can not be had in illinois, and that from total reeting against the company, an impartial trial can not be had in the State Court. The motion was opposed by the plaintiffs, on the ground that one of the defendants was not residing in this State, rendering the statute inoperative. The decision was reserved.

Jeffersonville Railroad in New Albany during the year 1867, amounted to the large sum of the year 1867, amounted to the large sum of twenty-seven thousand six hundred dollars.

On Sunday morning, as the steamer Cumberland was approaching Elizabethtown, the mate rose from the table, went upon the roof of the texas, where three of the crew were engaged washing the boat, and without passing a word, seized one of the hands and hurded him to the hurricane deck with such force as to mash the deck and break off the marlins, but happily without inflicting any serious injury upon his violin. With the ax he then attacked another of the hands, attempting to chop off his head, but Jim Matheny, the pilot, interfered and caught his arm. He then hurled the ax at another deck hand, striking him on the back, inflicting a slight injury. Captain Benjamin Howard, who was below at the time, hearing the noise, rushed to the hurricane deck in time to see the last scene in the attempted tragedy, immediately directed the pilot to land. He then ordered the mate to go to the office, get his money and go ashore. The mate demurred, but Captain Ben, was frim, paid him off and "banked" him then and there. It says the city issued one hundred and ten bonds to this railroad company, and the company in order to negotiate them mortgaged certain real estate in this city, and vicinity, to secure the payment of the bonds and interest. The in terest having been unpaid, the holders of the bonds several years ago foreclosed this mort gage, and sold the mortgaged real estate. The proceeds of the sale amounted to only about $50,000, leaving a balance, with the interes now due, upon these bonds of about $170,000 Judge Burke represents 53-100 of this balance or about $81,000. rifee of property, credits, and values in the Southern States alone of at least nine thousand million dollars.

But there is another bloody and terrible page in this account—a page in account with death. It is estimated there have perished in battle, by disease, exposure or other cause incident to the war, at least three hundred thousand able bodied white men of the South. I take no account of the unutterable anguish of millions of crushed and bleeding hearts. No language can express, no figures measure that. For that rebellion the white man of the South has been most terribly punished! Nine thousand millions of values are gone—lost forever! Three hundred thousand able bodied white men of the flower and strength of the South now lie in their bleedy or premature graves! Great God! Is not this punishment enough? Must we go further? Must we now punish the waite mignor the South by placing them under the dominition of half-civilized Africans? And in order to do that shall we punish ourselves by giving over to stolid and bruits hignorance the political control of one-fourth of the States, and, it may be, under the control of the simpy the balance of power of the United States? Shall we Africansze the South and Mexicanize the whole Republic?

I know these measures of Congress have done much to wound, nothing to heat. Yet, notwithstanding all that Congress has done to embitter their hatted toward the radical policy, there is neither hope, nor thought, nor wish to restore slavery, nor to separate from the Unitary.

In the whole rebel army which surrendered characteristics of the North and appail the world.

That war is now impending over all the South—it is only the presence of the Federal Army which prevents its outbreak upon a gigantic scale—a war which once begun, will end, I fear, in the exile or the extermination of the blacks from the Potomas to the Bio Grande. I know the Senator from Ohlo, [Mr. Wade.] in a speech in the late canvass, had no fear of such a war or of its results. He is reported to have said, "let the war come; let them fight tout." God grant that the war may never come! But, if it does come, no amount of military dicipline can compell thi whites of the N. rith to take part in the massacre of their own race and kindred.

Mr. President, having considered at some length the second answer to my question, and finding that it is not sustained by the facts, that it is bad in principal and worse in policy I repeat the question a third time—why press this negro supremacy over the whites of the South? What reasen can you give?

DR WRIGHT'S TAR SYRUP

Dear Sir: Last Christmas, for the first time in my life, I was much afflicted by a very severe cold, with almost constant Cough and sore chest. "Practice makes perfoct" the proverb says, but the more I coughed the worse I did it. By what I then considered an accident, but now believe to have been a Providence, I was induced to try Dr. Wright's Tar Syrup, purchased from you, and was greatly relieved in two days, wholly cured in ten. It is not unpleasant to the taste, which is a good point. Many years ago, reading my way through an old library, I came across the works of that Bishop Berkeley, who prophetically and truly declared, more than acentury ago, that "Westward the march of Empire takes its way," and among these were two treaties in which strongly advocated the use of Tar, as curative of many diseases from Catarrh to the plague. I was then struck with the cogency of the good Bishop's arguments, and am now sure—from the effeace of Dr. Wright's preparation of the same remote, that they were entirely correct. ENTER L. L. D. HILADELPHIA, July 20, 1867. J. A. MAY & CO.,

CONSUMPTION

Dear Sir: Having witnessed the operation of Dr. Wright's Tar Syrup in cases of Consumption, I cheerfully recommend it to all persons so at-dicted. JESSE R. W.ALKER, Fourth and Chestnut streets, Philadelphia. Thomas Winmill, butcher, in Second Street Market, Philadelphia, writes:

Altersuffering for two years with Consumption and constant hemorhages, I was induced to fir proving the Tar Syrup. After using six bottles, health returned, and I am now able to attend to my business.

"Facts are stubborn things," says the old proverb, and in these alone do we intend to deal, in presenting WRIGHT'S TAR SYRUP to the public. All know the necessity of guarding against Colds, as well as the necessity for taking the proper remedies when the Colds are upon us. We say, without fear of contradiction, that the superior of Wright's Tar Syrup for the cure of Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Bronehitis, and all discases of the Throat and Lungs, does not exist. Below are testimonials from persons, some of whom are known in all parts of the country:
